Overview
Accounting professionals have become vital to the organizations they serve by using their business acumen, accounting expertise, and communication skills to support budgeting, financial record keeping, and strategic decision-making. If you are a detail-oriented person with the drive to learn, earning your business administration degree with a concentration in accounting is an excellent way to gain valuable skills that can open up a wide variety of career opportunities.

Designed for individuals with an associate's degree or previous college credits from a Colorado community college, this program allows you to study at the Sturm Collaboration Campus in Castle Rock while earning your bachelor's degree from Colorado State University. Featuring a blend of in-person and online courses, this AACSB-accredited program gives you the opportunity to graduate from CSU's renowned College of Business and earn the same degree as students on the CSU – Fort Collins campus.

Earning your Bachelor of Science in Business Administration with an accounting concentration opens up a wide variety of career prospects. If you plan to become a Certified Public Accountant (CPA), completing this program will make you eligible to sit for the Uniform CPA Exam.
